PRICE TWO CENTS

BUTT KEPT MONEY, SO RIDINGER MUST PAY SECOND TIME

Court Upholds Defense Of Misses Kerr; Status Of Attorney-At-Law Is Defined.

Another opinion incident to the J. L. Butt financial failure was handed down by Judge D. P. McPherson when the court decided that George Ridinger, Hanover street, must pay a mortgage of $600 to the Misses E. M. and M. R. Kerr, Chambersburg street, despite the fact that he had paid the amount to the lien against his property to J. L. Butt.

Mr. Ridinger had petitioned the court for a rule on the Misses Kerr to show cause why the mortgage of $600 still held by them could not be satisfied.

Borrowed Money Through Butt
In his petition, he declared that he had originally borrowed the money from J. L. Butt, who was acting as attorney for the Misses Kerr. He subsequently paid the mortgage in full to Butt.

The Misses Kerr replied through their attorney, John D. Keith, that J. L. Butt had not turned the money over to them which he received from Mr. Ridinger and that Butt was not authorized to satisfy the mortgage. The original mortgage and mortgage bond in the possession of the Misses Kerr and was not delivered by Butt to Ridinger when Ridinger paid the mortgage to the now bankrupt attorney.

Attorney's Status Fixed
The court held that an attorney-at-law is not authorized to receive payment of a mortgage held by a client merely because he represented such client in placing the mortgage or because he was authorized to receive interest payments. He further held that a third person is not justified in presuming that a lawyer has such authority unless the original mortgage bond and mortgage are left by the client with the lawyer to be delivered when the mortgage is paid.

The court decided, therefore, that since J. L. Butt was not entrusted with the original mortgage papers, Mr. Ridinger assumed all risk in making payment to Butt and held that the Misses Kerr need not satisfy the mortgage upon the records. This means that Mr. Ridinger will have to pay the mortgage a second time.

RAILROAD CANNOT COLLECT FOR CARS BURNED ON SIDING

Judge McPherson Blazes New Trail In Deciding In Favor Of Adams County Corporation.

An industry is not always responsible for freight cars destroyed by fire on that industry's side track, according to an opinion handed down by Judge Donald P. McPherson in court here this week in an Adams county case brought by the director general of railroads of the United States on behalf of the Western Maryland railway company.

The Advance Industrial Supply Company, with a plant at Glad Hill, along the Western Maryland, southwest of Gettysburg, was the defendant company. The railroad constructed a siding for the Advance Industrial company containing the usual contract which provides that the industry shall be responsible for all cars placed on the siding for the use of the industry.

A number of cars of foreign roads were placed on the siding for use of the company at Glad Hill by the Western Maryland and were destroyed by fire which broke out in the plant of the corporation. The Western Maryland was compelled to pay the value of the cars to the various companies owning them and then proceeded to sue the Advance Industrial company to recover damages for the lost (Continued on Second Page).

David Hoke, County Native Who Shook Hand of Lincoln Here, Dies at Hanover Home

Cast His First Vote For "Honest Abe" At New Oxford; Aided Wounded On Battlefield.

David Hoke, who heard President Lincoln's memorable address at the dedication of the National Cemetery here and who shook Lincoln's hand on that memorable occasion, died at his home on Carlisle street, Hanover, Friday at the age of 88 years, one month and 26 days. Death was due to the infirmities of age.

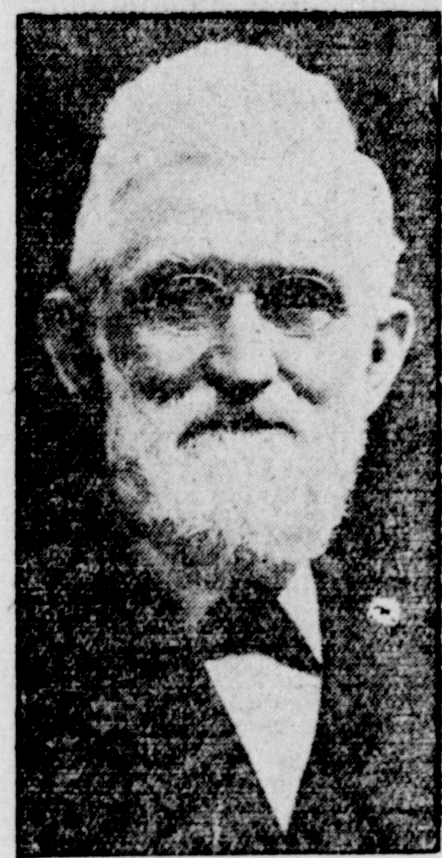

A son of David and Barbara Bechtel Hoke and the eldest of ten children, Mr. Hoke was born on November 13, 1836, on the Martin Carl farm, located along the Carlisle pike in Berwick township, Adams county. As a youth he attended the state normal school at Millersville. He was engaged for a time in the grain commission business in New Oxford.

Long Engaged In Farming
In 1868 Mr. Hoke took charge of the Michael Carl farm, adjoining the Martin Carl property. He was engaged in farming for more than sixty years. As a progressive and scientific agriculturist he saw many changes in his life time and was one of the first to introduce in this section the grain binder and other modern farm implements as they were invented. Before railroads had penetrated this section he saw as a boy wagon trains of grain pass his home destined for Baltimore, a shipping and distributing center.

Mr. Hoke attended the Philadelphia Centennial Exhibition and the Chicago World's Fair, as well as many cattle shows and big agricultural meetings seeking new developments in the science of farming.

First Voted For Lincoln
A Republican in politics Mr. Hoke voted at every presidential election since he cast his first ballot for Abraham Lincoln when the Great Emancipator ran for his second term, having voted at the polling place for Oxford township in New Oxford. His last vote was given as a resident of the third ward of Hanover last November to Calvin Coolidge.

Mr. Hoke visited the Antietam and Gettysburg battlefields immediately after the great conflicts, delivering provisions to the wounded, and he frequently recalled the terrible sights he witnessed on these occasions. On November 1, 1863 he was at Gettysburg when President Lincoln dedicated the National cemetery.

Married Second Time
He was married in 1863 to Miss Louisa Carl, daughter of Michael and Mary A. (Barnitz) Carl. Two children were born to them, Mrs. Helen M. Sangree, Philadelphia, and Carl M. Hoke, Hanover, both of whom survive. His wife died in 1868. He remarried in 1873, his second wife being Miss Annie E. Slagle, who survives with two of four children by this marriage: Mrs. Hugh B. Hostetter, Hanover, and Miss Harriet S. Hoke, at home. One brother, Abraham Hoke, Hanover, also survives.

The funeral will be held Monday afternoon, with services at the house at 2:30 o'clock. The Rev. Dr. A. S. DeChant, pastor of Emmanuel Reformed church, of which Mr. Hoke was a member, will officiate, assisted by the Rev. Dr. G. W. Nicely, pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran church. Interment will be made in the family plot in Mt. Olivet cemetery, Hanover.

MOVE TO BOLSTER DAM; DANGER OF FLOOD FORESEEN

Representatives From Adams County Discuss Laurel Dam Situation With Other Counties.

William C. Tyson, of Guernsey, and J. Donald Swope, of Gettysburg, represented Adams county at a meeting of representatives of five counties in Carlisle Friday when threats of a possible flood with probable loss of life and great damages to forests and private property by a break in Laurel Dam, in the Michaux state forest preserve, in the South Mountain, near Pine Grove Furnace, was revealed. The joint committee decided to take steps to immediately develop plans for the strengthening of the artificial mountain lake.

A number of Gettysburg and Adams county people have summer cottages at Laurel Dam and it is said to be one of the finest spots in the country for natural beauty, cool breeze and healthful climate in the summer months particularly.

Dam Break Imminent
The large dam which holds back an area of twenty-three acres of water recently has given evidences of breaking and it is the aim of the committee to strengthen it as quickly as possible. Engineers in the state department of forests and waters under the direction of Commissioner Robert Y. Stuart have made an extensive survey of the dam with a view of co-operating in its preservation.

The dam can be repaired and the large lake preserved, the state officials say, for approximately $6500. It is understood that the state is in sympathy with the movement, which (Continued on Second Page).

SPEAKER URGES FASTER READING

Principal of New Oxford Schools Presides at First District Institute Held There.

"Reading" was the subject discussed by Professor Orion Lowe, director of English department of public instruction, Harrisburg, at the first local institute of teachers in the schools of New Oxford borough and Oxford, Mt. Pleasant, Conewago and Union townships, at the high school in New Oxford, Friday evening.

Professor Lowe declared "that we read only about two-thirds as much as we ought in a given time," urging "that we train ourselves to read more rapidly, so as to secure more information." Reading not only adds to the vocabulary, but increases the reader's store of knowledge, he declared.

Clarence P. Keifer, principal of the New Oxford high school, presided at the meeting, which was attended by sixteen teachers. W. Raymond Shank, county superintendent of schools, was present, and urged the teachers to make use of the reading table, which has been established at his office in the court house.

The teachers decided to make "Singing" the subject for discussion at the next meeting of the group, which will be held February 17.

NATIVE OF TOWN DIES AT HOSPITAL

Edward Keiser, native of Gettysburg, but for the past 34 years a resident of Mt. Pleasant township, died at the Warner Hospital on Friday, of bronchial pneumonia, following an operation. He was aged 69 years, 4 months and 10 days.

Mr. Keiser was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Keiser, and leaves the following survivors: His widow, whose maiden name was Miss Florence Kuhn; two daughters, Mrs. Guy Sanders, Mt. Pleasant township, and Miss Mary C. Keiser, at home; one son, John Keiser, Mt. Pleasant township; one sister, Mrs. Peter Berger, Bonneauville; two brothers, Peter, Bonneauville, and Samuel Keiser, of Buchanan Valley, and 11 grandchildren.

Funeral Monday morning, meeting at the house at 9:30 o'clock, with requiem high mass at St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Bonneauville, at 10 o'clock, the Rev. Fr. M. Scanlon officiating. Interment in St. Joseph's Cemetery, Bonneauville.

Greatest Lutheran Organ to be Concert Medium at Hanover Tuesday Evening

J. Herbert Springer, Student at Gettysburg College, To Preside At Massive Instrument, He Designed.

Nine selections will be played by J. Herbert Springer, student at Gettysburg College, in the dedicatory recital on the new pipe organ at St. Matthew's Lutheran church, Hanover, next Tuesday evening, beginning at 8:15 o'clock.

The program of the concert as announced this morning by Mr. Springer, who has been organist at the church for several years, and who designed the instrument, follows:

"Toccata and Fugue in D Minor," by Bach; "Sour Monique," by Couperin; "Fugue in C Minor," Buxtehude; "Largo from 'New World Symphony,'" by Dvorak; "Christus Resurrexit," by Ravanello; three St. Lawrence sketches by Russell, (a) "Up the Saguenay," (b) "Song of the Basket-weaver," and (c) "The Bells of St. Anne de Beaupre;" "Toccata from Fifth Symphony," by Widor.

Many residents of Gettysburg and Adams county are expected to take advantage of the recital to see St. Matthew's new church and also to hear the organ, which is said to be the largest in any Lutheran church throughout the world. Funds for the organ, which is said to have cost in the neighborhood of $50,000, were donated by Mrs. Charles Moul and Norman Lack, both of Hanover, mother and husband, respectively, of the late Mrs. Lack, as a memorial to her.

Planned By Springer
Specifications for the new instrument were planned entirely by Mr. Springer, and to him is given credit for many suggestions in regard to the arrangement of the console, the control of the swell shades and the tonal balance of the various stops.

The console of the organ has four manuals and pedals. It contains 97 speaking registers, including the harp and chimes, and also 34 couplers. It is entirely electric in action, and the control is by means of stop-keys arranged in two rows above the upper manual, instead of the old-fashioned draw-stops.

The organ is in four chambers, one back of the choir gallery, containing the great and choir organs; one on the opposite side of the chancel for the swell, and one on each side of the gallery in the rear of the church to hold the antiphonal solo and echo divisions.

STOP BOASTING OF BATTLE HERE, PREACHER SAYS

Rev. Harry Daniels Surprises Audience By greeting His Patriotic Attitude During World War.

"We must stop boasting of Valley Forge and Gettysburg!"

So declared the Rev. Harry Daniels, pastor of the Gettysburg Methodist Episcopal church, at the Union Prayer services at St. James Lutheran church Friday evening.

Describing war in his sermon as "the devil's instrumentality to perpetuate peace," the Rev. Mr. Daniels surprised his audience when he declared that he had supported the late World War, making many patriotic addresses, but that he has since come to the conclusion that he had made a mistake, that he desired to acknowledge his error and that he would follow in the footsteps of Sherwood Eddy and others in opposing all wars.

Church Takes Wrong Stand
Rev. Mr. Daniels declared that the church has been glorifying the wrong thing. In cheering the flags and the soldiers, he affirms that "we were in error."

In discussing "the Church and International Relationships," he declared that this must be understood in relation to the ending of all wars. The speaker confessed that he had supported the late war, but now desired to acknowledge his error and to follow Sherwood Eddy in opposing all war.

The position expounded by the minister was that war is all wrong and never justified and that therefore the church can never cooperate in any way. The ministers should not be (Continued on Second Page.)

GOVERNOR'S SON GAVE PARDON TO BANKER AT $1250

Chief Executive Who Retires Monday Admits Offense, But Charges it to "Political Frame-up."

(By Associated Press.)
Topeka, Kan., Jan. 10.—A bombshell was dropped in Kansas today with the revelation that Russell G. Davis, 28 year old son of Governor Jonathan Davis, had accepted $1250 and delivered a pardon to Fred W. Hollman, former bank president and convicted forger.

The transaction took place in a room at the National hotel here and was exposed by the Kansas City Journal whose representative in conjunction with Hollman had set a trap for the Governor's son.

Governor Davis, whose term expires Monday, admitted his son had been "inveigled into accepting the money" and asserted the affair had been a "frame-up," by "my political enemies to get me."

Reporters Expose Deal
Young Davis accepted $1,000 from Hollman while two Journal reporters, a shorthand reporter and several other witnesses listened in an adjoining room, by the aid of a telephonic device hidden behind a curtain in Hollman's room, says the Journal's news story.

Receiving the $1,000 payment, the Governor's son left the hotel and returned with the pardon and then received $250, says the newspaper. He then was confronted by the Journal reporters and witnesses, who threatened an arrest. He returned the $250, left the hotel and later returned with the $1,000.

Young Davis said his father had no knowledge of the transaction.

Market Reflects Boom On Farms

(By Associated Press.)
New York, Jan. 10.—Speculation for the rise was continued at a furious pace in today's market with buying of many stocks, stimulated by reports of extending business activities.

Mail order and merchandising issues were buoyant in reflection of the prosperity that has come to the agricultural districts.

NEW DOCTOR ON HOSPITAL STAFF

Dr. Byron Jones, of Bendersville, Is Made Associate Member by Directors; Monthly Report.

Dr. Byron Jones, who recently began the practice of medicine in Bendersville, was appointed a member of the associate staff of the Annie M. Warner Hospital, after being recommended by the staff. The appointment was ratified by the directors of the institution at their January meeting, Friday evening.

Miss Martha McKay, superintendent of the hospital, presented the following report of the preceding month's business at the institution to the directors:

Patients admitted, 46; discharged, 50; birth, 6; deaths, 4; average number of patients per day, 16; patients remaining on last day of month, 16; radiographs, 71; laboratory examinations, 146; operations, 27; accident cases, 24; intravenous administrations, 4; blood transfusions, 1; return dressings, 37.

Of the four patients who died, one was an accident case, one was a stillbirth, one was an infant which died from convulsions and one was a patient who died from shock, after a blood transfusion failed. Her husband furnished the blood.

S. G. Bigham, of Biglerville, presided. Other directors in attendance were George W. Schwartz, Arthur Griest, Warren R. Jones, F. A. Waybright, John Henry Holtzworth, D. C. Asper and E. M. Bender.

ARM BROKEN AS AUTO BACKFIRES

Amos Baker, 36, of Iron Springs, was brought to the Warner Hospital this morning for an X-ray and treatment, following the fracturing of his right arm by the crank of an automobile, which backfired. The accident occurred at Orrtanna.

After the X-ray and treatment, he was discharged.

WELL KNOWN FOR FLOWER CULTURE

David C. Lookingbill Dies at Home of William Kennedy, in Huntington Township.

David C. Lookingbill, formerly of Harrisburg, died at the home of William Kennedy, in Huntington township, where he had been making his home the last few years, at the age of 72 years, six months and six days. Death was caused by a complication of diseases, including hardening of the arteries.

Mr. Lookingbill was widely known, largely through his occupation since coming to Adams county of raising beautiful flowers and selling them in Gettysburg, Harrisburg and other places. He was regarded by those who knew him intimately as a genius at many trades and occupations. He was a member of Warrior Eagle Tribe, No. 340, Improved Order of Red Men, of Harrisburg, and also the Knights of the Golden Eagle, Lodge No. 190, of Harrisburg. His wife died some years ago.

Funeral Monday at 10 o'clock, with services at the Kennedy residence, conducted by the Rev. J. Harold Little, of the New Chester Lutheran charge. Interment in Shoats Cemetery, between Harrisburg and Lingles-town.

Police In Dark On Burglary Suspects

Police admitted today they were baffled as to the identity of the thief or thieves, who early Friday morning broke into the Blue Parrot Tea Room and the Trimmer's Five and Ten Cent Store, escaping with approximately $40 in cash and a sheep-lined coat.

The two young men, one of them a former resident of Gettysburg, who were seen in town on Thursday, and were told by Constable Charles Wilson to move on and not loiter here, have not been seen since. Suspicion for the burglaries falls directly upon these two men, according to the officers, but they apparently have made good their escape.

Father Visits Babe In New Dirigible

Passaic, N. J., Jan. 10.—Uncle Sam's new dirigible, the Los Angeles, Friday steered a course over Passaic so that a father might pay his aerial respects to a two-week-old daughter.

The father, Lieutenant Raymond F. Tyler, a watch officer aboard the one-time ZR-3, wanted to show the ship to his young daughter and his convalescent wife, so her commanding officer took the craft directly above Ascension street to No. 145 where Mrs. Tyler lives.

Mrs. Tyler saw a speck of a man waving a handkerchief from a porthole of the Los Angeles' forward cabin.

Lieutenant Tyler dropped a note which read: "11 a. m., en route from Lakehurst to New York. The whole gang send their love to you and to the baby."

K. K. K. Dragon To Face Judge Lindsey

Denver, Col., Jan. 10.—Dr. John Galen Locke, grand dragon of the Colorado order of the Ku Klux Klan, will face Judge Ben B. Lindsey, Denver's nationally known juvenile judge, Saturday morning, to plead to charges of conspiracy and kidnapping in connection with an alleged forced marriage in his office last Tuesday night.

The dragon was arrested Friday on a complaint sworn to by Keith Boehm, 15-year-old Denver High School student, who alleges that he was forcibly removed from a downtown hotel, the home of his parents, taken to Locke's office and there compelled to go through a marriage ceremony with Miss Mae Nash.

chaplains and the members should hold aloof.

In analyzing war, he found it essentially destructive and therefore the antithesis of the church, which is constructive.

Rev. Mr. Daniels defined war as "the devil's instrumentality to perpetuate peace." He said that war settled nothing that cannot be settled better by other means. He believes that if the church refused to support a war, no civilized nation would be able to wage a war. The causes of war, according to the speaker, are always either (or both) desire for territory or greed for money.

In conclusion, Rev. Mr. Daniels said that "we have not applied the same principles of righteousness to nations that we have to individuals" and he urged nations and individual members thereof to "get back to brotherliness, love even of enemies, forbearance." He blamed Constantine the Great for "uniting the pagan idea of loyalty to the state with the Christian idea of loyalty to Christ"—ideas which the speaker affirmed were mutually incompatible.

The services next week will be held in the Methodist church, beginning Monday evening at 7:30 p. m. The subject the first evening is "God's Imperatives."

HAD COUNTY GIRL AS ACCOMPLICE

Confession of L. E. Silver in York Said to Implicate Unnamed Girl Living Near Here.

Said to have a girl friend accomplice, residing along the Lincoln Highway, six miles east of Gettysburg, Luther Elsworth Silver, 22, of Williamsport, Maryland, wanted by Hagerstown, Maryland, police on a charge of aggravated assault and battery, gave himself up to the York police, Friday evening.

The girl, who Silver claims in his confession to the York police was a member of "the tar and feather party" near Frederick, last summer, helped him in an attempted robbery in Hagerstown, several days ago. They were unsuccessful, but escaped before the arrival of the police.

The aged man, whose home they had planned to rob, was found in a critical condition by the police, and it was for this offense that Silver was wanted.

Returned Home Friday

Silver and his girl arrived at her home Friday morning. Here he left her and continued on to York, where he gave himself up and voluntarily confessed, according to the York authorities. A warrant for the girl's arrest is held by the Maryland authorities, and her arrest is expected.

Inquiry of families residing along and near the Lincoln Highway, east of here, failed to uncover the name of Silver's girl, who is likewise unnamed in York dispatches.

PRIEST ASSIGNED

Rev. William Burke Transferred from McSherrystown to Columbia Parish by Bishop.

The Rev. William Burke, one of the assistant rectors at St. Mary's Catholic Church, McSherrystown, has received notification from the Right Rev. Philip R. McDevitt, bishop of the Harrisburg diocese, of his transfer to Holy Trinity Church, Columbia. The appointment as second assistant there is temporary as Father Burke will be supplying a vacancy.

The Rev. Father Burke was twice stationed in McSherrystown, going there on January 8, 1923, and remaining for a year and two months, and later for a period of about three months. The Rev. R. H. McLaughlin, who since his return from Europe several months ago has been temporarily stationed at York and Bonneauville, returns to St. Mary's parish as an assistant. The change is effective today.

ORGAN RECITAL

gallery, which is situated at one side of the church, a departure from the usual custom of having swell shades only in the chancel has been necessary, and additional openings and shutters have been placed in the nave of the church. Thus, there are two sets of shades on each of the main chambers, and these can be used either together or independently, allowing the organist to direct the flood of tones any way he likes.

Wind for the organ is supplied by a 15-horsepower motor, and is brought to the pipes, about 5,000 in number, through a special system designed and patented by the Austin organ company, which built and installed the instrument. The system is a notable advance in organ construction, and is the invention of John T. Austin, whose name the organ company bears. To this it is due, through the even pressure obtained, that much of the richness of tone and smoothness of voicing of the large instrument is secured.

The first consideration in planning the specifications of the organ was that it should be fitted for every requirement of church service. Among the beautiful soft effects that are so conducive of the spirit of worship can be found every conceivable variety of tone-color. The more powerful stops are so treated that they produce smooth dignified tone, and combine to make a massive, reverberating full organ of profound impressiveness, according to persons, who have heard it being tried out.

MANY DOGS STILL WITHOUT 1925 TAGS

The time limit for securing dog licenses for the year 1925 expires next Thursday, January 15. There are hundreds of owners in Adams county who have not yet secured these licenses.

County Treasurer Troxell and his assistant have a supply of the license tags on hand and expect a rush of applicants for dog licenses during the next week. Owners failing to have their dogs properly tagged are liable to prosecution. Dog Law Enforcement Officer Raffensperger after next Thursday will start to round-up owners of dogs who have failed to secure tags.

CHILD BURNS TO DEATH ON STOVE

Daughter of Former Adams County Residents Figures in Tragedy in Baltimore.

(Special to The Times)

Baltimore, Jan. 10.—Tragedy, which manifested itself a year ago in the slaying of James Corwell, again attacked the family today when Ruth, three-year-old daughter of Corwell, died from burns suffered yesterday when she climbed on a gas stove in the kitchen of her home.

Ruth's parents lived for years on the Lincoln Highway, South Mountain, near Gettysburg. They also lived on Potomac street, Waynesboro.

Ruth was playing with her five-year-old brother in the kitchen of her home when her dress caught fire from the gas range.

James Corwell, the father, was slain February 11, 1924, when an unidentified man placed a weapon at his back and pulled the trigger. The shooting was believed to be the result of mistaken identity.

Butler Has Heated Argument Over Raid

(By Associated Press.)

Philadelphia, Jan. 10.—Director of Public Safety Butler and Magistrate E. T. Carney, who raided the Ritz Carlton hotel grill single-handed early Friday morning, came close to a physical encounter in the director's office today. Carney called on the director to demand the revocation of the Ritz Carlton's grill's license. Carney who found alleged liquor in the grill was told by Butler it was a first offense and that licenses are not revoked on such evidence.

An argument followed in which the director became so heated that he demanded Carney leave the office. Carney refused. The general leaped from his chair, but his subordinates stepped between him and Carney. The police magistrate left the office of his own volition.

Steelton, 21; Lebanon, 20.

Despite the fact that the Maroon and White team played whirlwind basketball at Williamsport, Friday evening, it still is in the cellar in the Central Pennsylvania Scholastic League, having lost to the Biltowners by the score 35 to 28. It was the second defeat of the local team in the league so far this season.

From the start of the melee, which was desperately fought on both sides, until far into the second period, Gettysburg was in the lead, which was honor itself, for Williamsport is considered the fastest team in the league this season. At half time, the locals led by the score 22 to 14.

Gallagher, of the Red Tornado's quintet, paved the way for Gettysburg's undoing in the second period. Taken out of the game in the half, because of his poor showing, Gallagher was put back into the fray in the second half, and literally ran rings around the Maroon-jerseyed battlers, scoring five field goals.

Tennant, Buohl and Moser put up the best exhibition for the local high school, but they were unable to stem the tide of points chalked up during the second half by the unconquerable Gallagher.

Coach Reynolds, despite the defeat, was very well satisfied with the showing of his proteges, especially in the first half. "They played championship basketball during the first period," was his comment.

originated among campers who visit the section from all parts of the state and people who reside in the surrounding communities.

Wait Funds To Begin Work
To raise the full amount required is the immediate problem of the committee. They will begin work as soon as the funds have been provided.

The lake is the largest body of mountain water between Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, John R. Williams, of Chambersburg, state forester in charge of the preserve, said Thursday. During the summer it was a favorite resort for campers. Forty-seven counties in the state and fifteen states in the union, besides Pennsylvania, were represented among the campers during the season.

Built By Ice Company

The dam originally was constructed by an ice company formerly located at Mt. Holly Springs. Since then other firms have leased the lake for ice harvests although no private organizations has assumed responsibility for the care and preservation of the lake.

Although the land is owned by the state and the members of the committee have no immediate personal interests at stake, they have pointed out repeatedly the dangers involved in a continued neglect of the structure. They also are anxious to have the lake preserved as one of the outstanding beauty spots of southern and central Pennsylvania.

Fillmore Maust, of Carlisle, former judge of Cumberland county, acted as chairman of the committee. Members of the committee according to the counties they represent are: Irvine E. Greenwood and Harry McCartney, both of Carlisle; Cumberland county; Arthur C. Hauck and Dan L. Casey, secretary of the Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce, both of Harrisburg; Dauphin; William C. Tyson, of Guernsey; and J. Donald Swope, of Gettysburg; Adams; J. C. McDowell, of York; John R. Williams, State forester, both of Chambersburg; Franklin C. F. Smith, secretary of the Anglers' Club, and H. C. Ullmer, both of York, York county.

LOCAL BAKERS TO ATTEND CONFAB

Gettysburg Bakers Expect To Attend Mid-Year Convention of Pennsylvania Association.

Gettysburg bakers are planning to attend the mid-year convention of the Pennsylvania Bakers' Association in Harrisburg next Monday and Tuesday. Bread production and the problems of the baking industry will be one of the topics discussed.

Among the speakers on the program for the second day's session is Governor Pinchot.

Charles E. Gunzenhauser, president of the association, will speak at the opening session Monday forenoon and Frank P. Willis, state secretary of agriculture, is scheduled to deliver an address. "Bread Production Problems" and "Sales and Advertising as Related to the Baking Industry" are topics to be discussed by F. C. Stadelhofer and Lloyd Baillie, of New York.

Seventy-Five Cent Dollar "The Seventy-five Cent Dollar" will be the subject of an address by S. F. Fannon, of Boston, at the afternoon meeting. Peter G. Pirrie, of New York, is to speak on "Some New Ideas in Connection with Baking Machinery" and George A. Stuart of the Pennsylvania Bureau of Markets will talk on "The Miller and the Baker."

The bakers will attend a dinner in York on Monday night. Two sessions are scheduled for Tuesday with addresses at the morning session by M. Hoke Gottschall of the State Department of Internal Affairs on "The Baking Industry of Pennsylvania" and Thomas E. King, of New York, on "The Effect of Leaks and Inefficiency on Bakery Profits."

Governor Pinchot and Richard H. Lansburgh, secretary of labor and industry, are on this program.

Bakery legislation will be discussed by Elwood M. Rubenold, of New York, and "The Price We Pay for Carelessness" by Professor O. C. Dorney, of Allentown, at the afternoon meeting.

Vic Emanuel May Change Positions

Vic Emanuel, former Harrisburg Tech and Gettysburg College athletic star, who has been holding down the position as athletic director at the Coatesville High School for several years, is considering a change to a preparatory school, with an extension of duties to include general athletic training.

Emanuel has made quite a record for himself at Coatesville High, an indication of his ability. He has had several offers this year. This summer Vic expects to be back in Harrisburg and will probably apply for the position he held last year as captain of the Island beach life guards.

"Bill" Emanuel, brother of Vic and "Snaps" will compete in the Pennsylvania railroad system swimming meets as one of the representatives of the Harrisburg-Philadelphia Division team.

2,485 Farmers In County Own Autos

Seventy-two per cent of all the farmers in Adams county are using automobiles, a total of 2,485, according to a survey made by the state department of agriculture which reveals that 78 per cent of all the farmers in the state are operating cars.

PRESIDENT AND FIRST LADY ON SKIS.

President and Mrs. Coolidge herewith are shown trying out the new skis presented to them by the National Ski Association through a delegation which called at the White House and invited the Chief Executive and the First Lady of the Land to attend the association's ski tournament at Condon, S. D., in February. Despite the fact that there was no snow in Washington at the time, the President and Mrs. Coolidge negotiated the White House lawn in the skis while the delegation looked on and applauded.

Courteous Pirates Compensate Family of Man Who Was Killed

Foochow, China.—With consideration for their victims worthy of Robin Hood, pirates recently took possession of the Chinese steamer Ningshin, ran her into a harbor near Amoy and proceeded to loot her most systematically, according to a report brought here by William Overholt and family, American missionaries, passengers and witnesses of the occurrence. The quartermaster bravely refused to turn over his keys to the pirate chief and was killed, but the pirates made up a purse of $200 and entrusted it to another of the ship's officers to be given to the family of the murdered man.

The pirates boarded the ship in Shanghai in guise of passengers. When nearing Amoy they overpowered the officers and crew, acting with precision and with practically no violence. They politely warned the Chinese-speaking passengers not to get excited, informing them that their object was primarily the seizing of 90,000 pounds of silver bars consigned to the American Oriental bank at Foochow. Nevertheless, it was explained somewhat apologetically, the pirates needed some clothing and would be obliged to accept some from the passengers. Only the passengers in the private cabins were robbed, the less fortunate ones in the matter of comforts being unmolested. Toward the foreign travelers the pirates were extremely polite. From them they took nothing, evidently under orders from their chief.

Under compulsion the crew piloted the Ningshin into a harbor where, in a concealed location, appeared a fort suggestive of medieval days. Boats put out from shore in great numbers to take off the treasure. Many of the wild looking boatmen attempted to board, but the pirate chief stood them off at the point of a revolver while his followers brought the loot to the ship's side. He explained to the passengers: "If these fellows get on board I can't control them, and they certainly will rob you of everything you have."

As soon as the silver was unloaded into the small boats the captain of the ship was ordered to put to sea, and as the boats dropped astern the pirates fired a salute with their small arms, the chief bowing low and swinging his hat in a wide theatrical gesture.

ILLNESS OF BOY Baffles Doctors

Dillsburg.—Paul Myers, aged 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Myers, Monaghan township, is seriously ill from an illness that is puzzling physicians.

Monday he complained of a severe headache. The following day he lapsed into a state of unconsciousness, in which state he remained until 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon, when he partly regained his senses, recognizing his friends for a short interval, and then again lapsing into unconsciousness.

Bandit Robs Girl In Theater Booth

Hagerstown, Md., Jan. 10.—Hurling the girl cashier to the floor in his getaway with $400, the receipts of a motion picture theater here, a lone bandit escaped Thursday night after he held a crowd at bay at the point of a pistol. He had not been captured Friday.

Mrs. Grace Tanger, aged 20, who had been taking the tickets in the cashier's booth before the theater, was packing up the day's receipts at the conclusion of the last show in the Maryland theater, when she was confronted by the robber, who wrrenched the box containing $400 from her,

BANKER HEARS NOTED SPEAKER

L. L. Taylor Is Guest at Luncheon Friday Addressed by Sir George Paish, England.

L. L. Taylor, Carlisle street, cashier of the Gettysburg National Bank, who, with Mrs. Taylor, returned Friday evening after spending several days in Philadelphia, was honored by being invited to attend the luncheon of the Transatlantic Society, Friday, when Sir George Paish, noted British economist and publicist, was the speaker.

Two hundred men, some of them accompanied by their wives, who are prominent in the business and social life of Philadelphia, were in attendance, including Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, Mr. Kennedy, of Chambersburg, president of the Cumberland Valley Railroad, was also among the guests.

"As events are shaping themselves now, we are moving toward a new war, in which Germany and Russia will be combined against the rest of the world," was the ominous prophecy of Sir George. The eminent English financial authority expressed the opinion, however, that this menace of war could be thwarted by the creation of a higher spirituality among the nations, and he appealed to the United States to exert this influence.

draw his gun and threatened the crowd filing from the theater, then ran down an alley, knocking Mrs. Tanger to the floor as she attempted to stop him.

Efforts to halt the lone bandit failed, and it is thought that he had an automobile waiting for him in an alley near the theater.

A generous prayer is never presented in vain.

There is no duty we so much under-rate as the duty of being happy.

Single-Wheeled Motorcycle Carries Rider on Inside of Rim

A single-wheeled, spokeless motorcycle has been invented in Italy. Engine and seat are held on a frame within a large outer revolving tire which passes over pulleys. Power is applied directly to the outside rim, the single wheel affording the traction and carrying the load. The rider's feet are close to the ground so that he can easily regain his balance in case the vehicle should tip. It is guided by a regulation steering wheel.

No Eggs Boiled on the Planet Mars Temperature Tests Prove

Owing to the rare state of air on the planet Mars, it has been shown by a government scientist, water there will boil at a much lower temperature than on the earth. To determine the degree of warmth of the distant sphere, the experimenter directs a ray of the planet's light upon two thin wires, thus setting up an electric current which is measured by delicate instruments. The temperature of Mars, according to the scientist, is from twenty to forty degrees cooler than that of the earth. This would make it impossible to boil eggs on the planet.

Thirty Thousand Acres of Trees Used Yearly for Toothpicks

Approximately 30,000 acres of trees are necessary for the manufacture of the toothpicks used yearly in the United States alone, according to government estimates. Maple and hickory are the chief kinds of wood used, although sweet and yellow birch are employed in some localities. After being felled, the logs are sawed into bolts, twenty-eight inches long. These are then steamed and cut into strips of veneer or thin sticks which are divided into ribbons, three inches wide. Eight or ten of these are run through machines that clip them into splinters of regulation toothpick size and shape, and they are then boxed, each container holding about 1,500. Michigan, Maine, Ohio and Oregon are the principal sources of the supply.

Preserving Leaves in Specimen Book

The common method of preserving leaves by pressing them with a flatiron rubbed on beeswax may be improved in the following way: Paint the underside of each leaf with linseed oil and iron it immediately in the same way. This treatment gives the leaves sufficient gloss and keeps them pliable. It is not necessary to press and dry the leaves beforehand, although this may be done if desired. The units of the leaves can even be preserved by painting the upper side with the oil and placing them, without ironing, between newspapers and under weights to dry.

Using a C-Battery

The C or bias battery is a very useful adjunct to the audio-frequency amplifier, as it not only improves the operation of the set but also reduces the drain on the B-battery. However, if the B-battery has a potential of under 45 volts, the C-battery is unnecessary; for a 60-volt battery the C-voltage should be about 3 volts, and for a 90-volt B-battery the C-battery should have a potential of 4½ volts, and be connected with the negative toward the grid.

Repairing Leaky Spark Plugs

Spark plugs having a removable center wire sometimes leak compression at this point. Often the reason is that the insulator has chipped away where the flange on the wire seats against it. This trouble can usually be remedied by slipping a thin brass washer, of the same kind as that used on top of the plug, over the center wire and drawing it up against the porcelain. As such washers are too large for this use, they must first be trimmed down with tinners' snips.

Effective Churn Plunger

The work of churning is hastened considerably by using a plunger with two blades that revolve in opposite directions. The plunger is a wooden rod with three holes drilled through it in the lower part for wooden pins. Two square blocks, drilled to fit on the plunger rod and just wide enough to fit loosely between the pins are attached as shown. Slots are sawed diagonally in these blocks to receive the blades, which are cut from heavy galvanized iron. The plunger is worked up and down in the usual way.

NEWSPAPER CONDITIONS CHANGING

"There is no ideal newspaper. The truth of the matter is that the newspaper press, evolution. There are different types of evolution. There are different types of newspapers, as there are different bodies of opinion in politics. These are gradually changing, and while there are still a few papers that approximate the old type of personal journalism, and some that correspond relatively to the most radical elements in politics, between these two there is a great body of newspapers whose publishers, imbued by a high sense of public responsibility, are striving with honesty and sincerity to uphold the best traditions of the press and at the same time meet changing conditions."—John M. Imbrie, Managing Director, Edmonton Journal.

WE ACCEPT THE SUGGESTION. THANK YOU

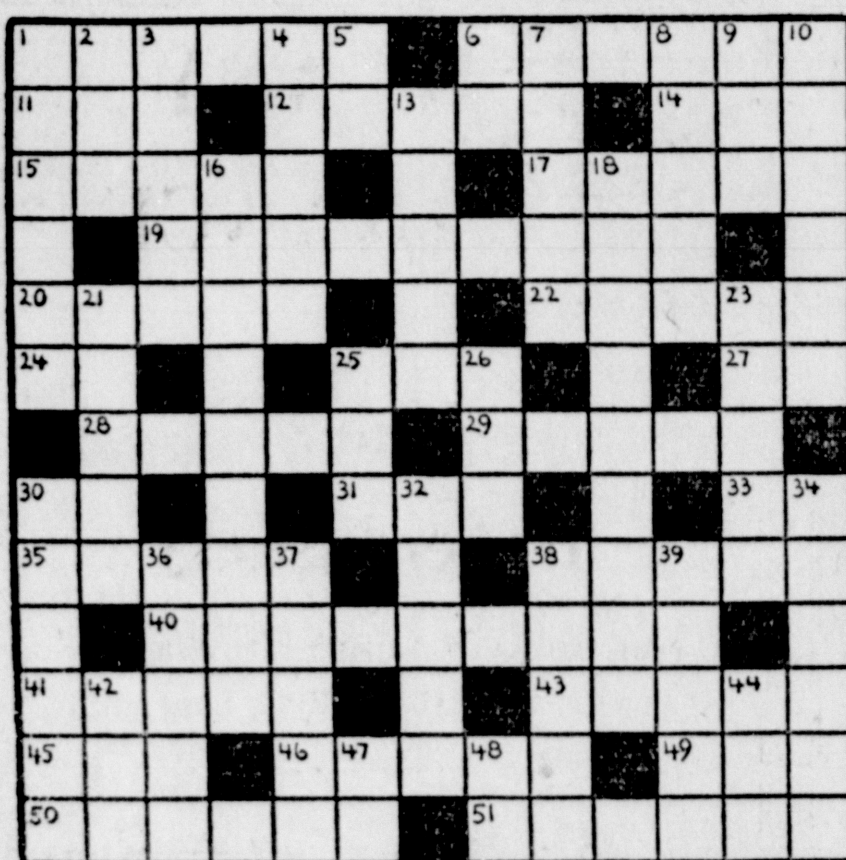

In a communication to the editor of The Times, published in full in another column of today's newspaper, a reader suggests that we print more political news.

It is possible that political news has been neglected in the quest for other "spot news" of a more timely nature throughout the county, and every effort will be made in the future to cover the political field more thoroughly.

Political news does not necessarily mean partisan; for The Times is non-partisan. That is, this newspaper will not take up the fight of either old party against the other, for we are not particularly interested in the success—or quarrels—of either.

On the other hand, political news is very important to the people since our whole social structure and our government is built upon politics. What the party which happens to be in power does is a matter of most vital public interest and this newspaper will endeavor to interpret those actions and possibly the anticipated actions of parties and politicians so that all the people may know exactly what is going on.

ON AN IMPENDING DIVORCE

And she has reared his children, and kissed away their tears!
And she has seen him come and go through all the passing years!
She knows his every mood and whim and what he likes for tea
And now he says he's done with her, and, oh, that bothers me!

She gave her youthful heart to him, and he has drained it dry,
Time was the light of all his world was in her laughing eye;
And she has grown so used to him, but now they can't agree
And he declares he's done with her, and, oh, that bothers me!

She's run to get his slippers out, she's mended off his coat,
On winter days she's stood to wrap his muffler round his throat;
She's nursed him countless nights and days as gently as could be,
And he declares he's done with her, and, oh, that bothers me!

She's the mother of his children, all these years she's been his wife,
She must by now be part of him and all his daily life,
She must be linked to everything he touches or can see,
But still he says he's done with her, and, oh, that bothers me!

REACTION OF LAST EVENING'S EDITORIAL

Gettysburg, Pa.
Jan. 10, 1925

Editor, The Times:
I have read with a great deal of interest your editorial of last evening. And while desiring in no way to continue or begin a seeming controversy, I do feel that a word or two should be said from the other side.

The utterance referred to in your editorial as having been made by one of the speakers at the union Protestant services now being held in Gettysburg was in no sense the united expression, as such, of the ministerium, yet I doubt not, however, that every member of the ministerium would subscribe to it. Furthermore, what I shall say here likewise, in no sense, represents the concerted action of the ministerium, but is the known expression of my own feelings in the matter alone.

I want particularly to take exception to one statement. The little phrase, "bread and butter," apparently innocent, seems to me to represent the lowering of editorial dignity and the playing into the hand of a sentiment that, in the minds of certain elements of our citizenry, seems to embody the aims and ideals of the ministry. It is against that belief, in its inception and furtherance, that I wish to enter a vigorous protest and denial. There is no class of men in any calling, in the church or out of it, that is actuated more fully and entirely by thoroughly altruistic motives than are they of the ministry of the Gospel of the Son of God. It is true, perhaps, that there are a few exceptions, but they are so few as to be negligible. The minister is a man who has dedicated his life to the dissemination of a great ideal, essentially constructive program and principles that are absolutely fundamental to the temporal and eternal well-being of the human race. I want to declare in just as an emphatic way as I can that the stipend that he receives in no sense represents his value to any community. The minister of the Gospel is paid, not for his services, but that he may live while performing his services to his particular congregation and the community at large. His worth to any community cannot be evaluated in the currency of time. He, therefore, is not serving for his "bread and butter," but with the Apostle Paul, he feels a fire within him that impels him and enables him to at least understand in some measure the Pauline declaration that "woe is me if I preach not the Gospel." His salary, or "bread and butter," if you please, is but the expression of appreciation of those whom he serves in this respect that his temporal needs may be met to the end that he may give himself more fully to the service in matters beyond material evaluation.

In this connection, too, permit me to ask, "Is it the province and obligation of a newspaper to cater to the demands of its constituency, good, bad and indifferent, or is it entrusted with a higher privilege and task: that of creating and endorsing and persistently, but wisely, keeping before the public principles and ideals that are wholesome and constructive in every sense of the term?" It seems to me that the public press is and should be the living, persistent, outspoken exponent of those ideals and principles that, even aside from the Word of God, history has taught us are the basic things in our happiness and well-being. And to pursue any other course must be construed as recreancy to a great privilege and trust.

But, my dear Brethren of the Editorial Sanctum, I perceive that you, like the rest of us, are fallible, and so this little "comeback" is not written in any spirit of acrimony at all, but just to let you know that we do read your editorials,—sometimes.

In conclusion, I want to express my personal appreciation of the liberal treatment usually given to our Protestant church services, etc. But with my brethren, I still contend that on an occasion of united services, representing practically one half of the town's population, we should have front page recognition; yea more, does it not justify special reportorial assignment?

NEW CHEVROLET PUT ON MARKET

A new Chevrolet—more beautiful in body lines, more roomy and comfortable, with a host of new mechanical and body features—has been announced this week by the Chevrolet Motor Company. The new cars come in five body types, the touring, roadster, coach, coupe and sedan, and are being shown for the first time at the New York Show.

There is hardly a feature of the Chevrolet that is not new, improved or re-designed, while most of these features are of the type and quality characteristic of higher priced cars.

The following outstanding features are to be found on these new cars:

Stream-Line Bodies

All models have full stream-line bodies, with refinements in design which make them the most beautiful cars Chevrolet has ever produced.

New clutch of the dry plate disc type, completely enclosed with fly-wheel.

New axles—rear axle is entirely new of banjo type construction and with one-piece pressed steel housing.

New springs of the semi-elliptical type, longer and easier riding.

New and heavier channel steel frame 38 inches longer, with five sturdy cross members.

New improvements in the already famous Chevrolet motor, such as heavier crankshaft with larger connecting rod bearings, longer and larger center main bearings, shorter intake manifold bringing the carburetor closer to the cylinders, insuring better carburetion and easier starting; rocker arms and valves completely enclosed.

TETANUS

Causes Of "Lock-Jaw" And How To Prevent It Discussed By Medical Authority For Times Readers.

This is the second of a series of special medical bulletins, all containing information of vital interest to the people of Adams county on the important subjects of health and hygiene, prepared especially for The Gettysburg Times by the Adams County Medical Society and the staff of the Annie M. Warner Hospital.—The Editor.

Tetanus is one of the diseases following accidents, which must be expected in a farming country. Our farmers are acquainted with the frequent "lock jaw" cases seen in their animals, and a comparatively large number of our people have suffered from the disease.

The germ of tetanus thrives in soil, especially that soil well fertilized with manure. It is peculiar in that it only grows in material from which the air is excluded.

When the germ is carried into the wound with other dirt, following an accident, it grows only when that wound is sealed from the outside air. A wide, open, shallow wound to which the air has free access is not in danger of producing lock jaw, especially if antiseptics, which act by generating oxygen, are freely used.

Puncture Wounds Fertile

Puncture wounds, such as those produced by a nail piercing the foot, are especially fertile sources of "lock jaw" infection, for at once, upon the removal of the nail, the skin opening becomes sealed, and even very small amounts of dirt carried in with the nail are sealed in the deeper tissues away from all air. These puncture wounds are the most to be feared as sources of the infection and, if left sealed, must be considered breeders of trouble.

The treatment of tetanus must be considered from two angles. First and most important is the prevention and development of the disease, for a very high percentage of those who develop the disease do not recover. By the use of tetanus antitoxin within twenty-four hours of the injury, and by careful cleansing and keeping the wound clean we are practically 100 per cent assured of successful prevention of tetanus.

The ordinary surface wound is little likely to become the breeding place for the germ, and application of iodine or other antiseptic a few times and the use of a sterile bandage which our druggists supply is all that is required. However, even the surface wound, if allowed to become covered with a contaminated crust, or so called scab, may develop the germs of tetanus. Remember that dirt, as doctors view it, is still dirt and dangerous dirt even if practically invisible. Cleanliness here means removal of all dirt, and the use of antiseptics that do not char tissue. Iodine, alcohol, and such do not char tissue and are acceptable, but carbolic acid, and like acting chemicals, destroy the tissues as well as the germs. This dead tissue is a fine breeding ground for disease.

Competent Aid Suggested

In all but the most superficial scratches, play safe and have competent aid. The medical profession is alive to the services they render in prevention, and the use of tetanus antitoxin is practically universal for preventing "lock jaw." The Pennsylvania department of health supplies, free of cost, preventive doses of the antitoxin, for it is agreed generally that it is a safe prevention. During the World War the wounded soldiers of all the countries received the preventive dose, millions of soldiers, without bad results, and tetanus, which has been such a ravage in previous wars, was reduced to a very few cases.

So many of our local people object to the physician wanting to open the nail puncture wound wide, to allow cleansing and exposure to the air. The puncture wound that is not laid open wide and cleansed thoroughly to the lowest depths has been neglected, and it is your fault if tetanus develops.

The patient with the dirty wound, the puncture wound, and the infected wound that has not been given tetanus antitoxin has been neglected. The earlier it is given, the better.

In a few cases of organic heart diseases, asthma, and other weakening conditions the antitoxin has been known to give severe shock, but your doctor is informed and will examine the patient before giving. The ordinarily robust person will fear nothing unless it be the occasional dose of "hives" that sometimes follows the use of any serum.

Prevent tetanus by prompt cleaning and wide opening to the depths of all wounds, and by the preventive dose of tetanus antitoxin given early.

Poison Invades Brain

When we discuss the cure of tetanus, first remember that the infection, once fully developed, has invaded the nerve tissues of the brain and spinal cord, regions which are hard to reach with any sort of cure.

The antitoxin is used here also, but without the brilliant results to be seen in diphtheria, for the diphtheria invades the throat, nose, etc., easily accessible to the antitoxin as compared with the brain and spinal cord.

In fact the Pennsylvania department of health found that so few cases of tetanus are cured that the curative doses of antitoxin, which were also dispensed free, have been removed from the list of antitoxins given free by the state to help its citizens.

In the past several months, however, reports of cures of tetanus, using large doses of the antitoxin, are encouraging, and the department of health may again give us free curative doses, for they feel that the expense is so great that the afflicted must have all help of proved value.

Summary:
1.—Prevent tetanus by thorough cleansing and wide opening of all wounds, done by those competent, and secure tetanus antitoxin at once. Given free by the state of Pennsylvania.
2.—Cure tetanus by preventing it. Only about 30 per cent of fully developed cases recover.

Reader Thinks Times Should Publish More Political News

Biglerville, Jan. 8, 1923.
Editor Times,

I was interested last week in your article setting before the people of the county the attitude of Representative Stock on the Speakership subject. A previous reading of city papers had led to the conclusion that Mr. Stock's course might be controlled by those York county interests who habitually meddle in Adams county's political affairs. Undoubtedly an effort was made from that direction, but Mr. Stock's vote in caucus and organization proves the correctness of your information.

An occurrence of this kind brings up a suggestion that I want to pass for your consideration. Your daily has wide circulation in this county. Many of your readers subscribe for no other county paper, although they do read the dailies from Philadelphia. You have long held your paper in a politically non-partisan position. That is entirely proper for your circulation is general among parties. But it would seem to me that you could, with all propriety, publish political news. By that I mean news stories concerning political officeholders and political matters generally that are of interest to people of the county. In no case would you be required to present your own conclusions, and your articles of this kind could not be objectionable. I hope you will consider this suggestion, and if in your opinion it possesses merit, adopt it. As indicated above, when we are left to get our political information from city dailies it is too often not reliable; is frequently highly colored to suit the political affiliations of some writer remote from this county.

Very truly yours,
TIMES READER.

IF RHEUMATIC EAT NO SWEETS

Says Glass of Salts Help to Overcome Rheumatism Acid.

Rheumatism is easier to avoid than to cure, states a well-known authority. We are advised to dress warmly, keep the feet dry, avoid exposure, and above all, drink plenty of good water and avoid eating sweets of all kind. Rheumatism is caused by body waste and acids resulting from food fermentation. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this poison from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this waste and acids, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain, called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is helpful to neutralize acidity, remove waste matter, also to stimulate the kidneys, thus often ridding the blood of rheumatic poison. Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.—adv.

BULLETS PLAY ALBRIGHT FIVE

Orange and Blue Basketball Quintet

CONFIDENT OF SECOND VICTORY

Third Contest of Season to be Played in College Gymnasium
This Evening at 8 O'clock.

Captain Peduzzi, piloting the Orange and Blue basketball team this season, leads his teammates against the strong Albright College cage five tonight in the college gymnasium, the first home game since the holiday recess. The opening clash after the Christmas vacation was the contest with the midshipmen at Annapolis on Wednesday.

The Navy tilt did not show up the local aggregation in their true form. Stiff and cold from an eighteen-day lay-off, the Orange jerseyed cagers gave a good account of themselves in Annapolis and battled against overwhelming odds, on a large floor, against what sports dopesters declare is one of the strongest and best teams in the East. However Coach Leathers was not disappointed in the showing his proteges made against the future admirals and still retains the brightest hopes for a successful season this year.

In tonight's contest, Gettysburg faces a strong aggregation, well trained, keen, sharp players, filled with the enthusiasm of a fighting squad, determined to tumble the Orange and Blue warriors from their pedestal of fame as first-class basketball tossers.

High School Stars

Listed on the squad of the local collegians are some well known high school stars, who have received commendatory notices in the press during their high school careers and are now following it up with sensational work with the G-burg aggregation. Of the 78 candidates for berths on the varsity five this year, Coach Leathers found only four men who had not starred in their high school days, but who demonstrated marked ability of conduct on the floor.

Captain Peduzzi, for two years one of the mainstays of the G-burg varsity, is a former member of the Mount Union High squad, that copped the state high school title several years ago. Peduzzi piloted his high school team in its championship year, and this year was selected to carry the burden of captain for the Gettysburg College quintet. He is performing in sensational fashion and is making an unusual leader for the Orange and Blue. Fast, shifty, keen shooter of baskets, and tireless in his playing, Peduzzi presents a formidable man for the opposition to stop.

Gerhardt, lanky center, is rated as one of the best jump men among secondary-college players. He is also playing his third year with the local outfit and has already won an enviable reputation as one of the shining lights on the 1924-25 aggregation. "Junie" Bream, defense man on the local quintet, stacks up as one of the best guards Gettysburg College has had in years. Bream piloted the local high school five through a successful season in his senior year and upon his entrance into Gettysburg College was ranked as one of the biggest possibilities for the team that year. He has made good the best prospects of the close followers of the game, and today has been selected by Coach Leathers as a power in defense work, as well as a valuable asset in the offensive attack of the local five.

Pilot Partner

Tuckey, former Harrisburg Tech star, is running mate with Captain Peduzzi at a forward position. Tuckey, although one of the smallest men on the team, is one of the fastest, shifty, agile, and full of fight and defensive qualities that make him a valuable partner for the local pilot. Both men have established a strong two-man combination at their end of the floor, at the same time perfecting the balance of a machine of five-man defensive tactics as well as an offensive assault, that has put the team in the list with the best in the state.

Fisher, running mate of "Junie" Bream, is another flying defense midget. Fisher does not rank with the giants of the indoor game, but he does conduct himself like a veteran, and is in the thick of the fray from the opening whistle. He is a former Reading high school star and his experience has placed him in good stead when he is pitted against some of the stronger teams in the East, which will be met this season.

The other five mainstays, selected by Coach Leathers as his top-notch warriors, include Spangler, Barbour, Haller, G. Bream and Thompson. All five men are powerful cage men, well versed in the knowledge of the indoor pastime and form an excellent reserve list for Coach Leathers to call upon, as he invariably does in every game, believing that every man should be given an opportunity to boost his stock and to run neck-and-neck with his older teammates.

Tonight's tilt will be a real test of the strength of the local five. Albright, recognized in past years as a mediocre aggregation of basketball players, is now ranked with the best in the state. They have a veteran and experienced tribe and are ready to give the local crew a stiff battle for the bacon when the whistle sends the ten men into action in the college gym tonight.

BRITON PRAISES WRITING SCHOOLS

Sir Roderick M. Jones, Chairman of Reuters, Finds High Educational Standards Here.

London.—Sir Roderick M. Jones, chairman of Reuters, the British news agency, in a recent letter to The Spectator, urging support of the journalism courses of the University of London, pays a warm tribute to the educational standards of American journalism.

"During each of my visits to the United States," says Sir Roderick, who recently visited America on a tour around the world, "I have been impressed by the high educational standard of young American journalists. They are recruited, I find, in increasing numbers from the several universities which devote themselves, in part, to the training of men for newspaper work.

"The fruitful experience of these institutions justifies the progressive and enlightened journalism policy of the University of London which, over here, has been the pioneer in this in many other educational activities."

NEW EXAMINATION NOW BEING TRIED

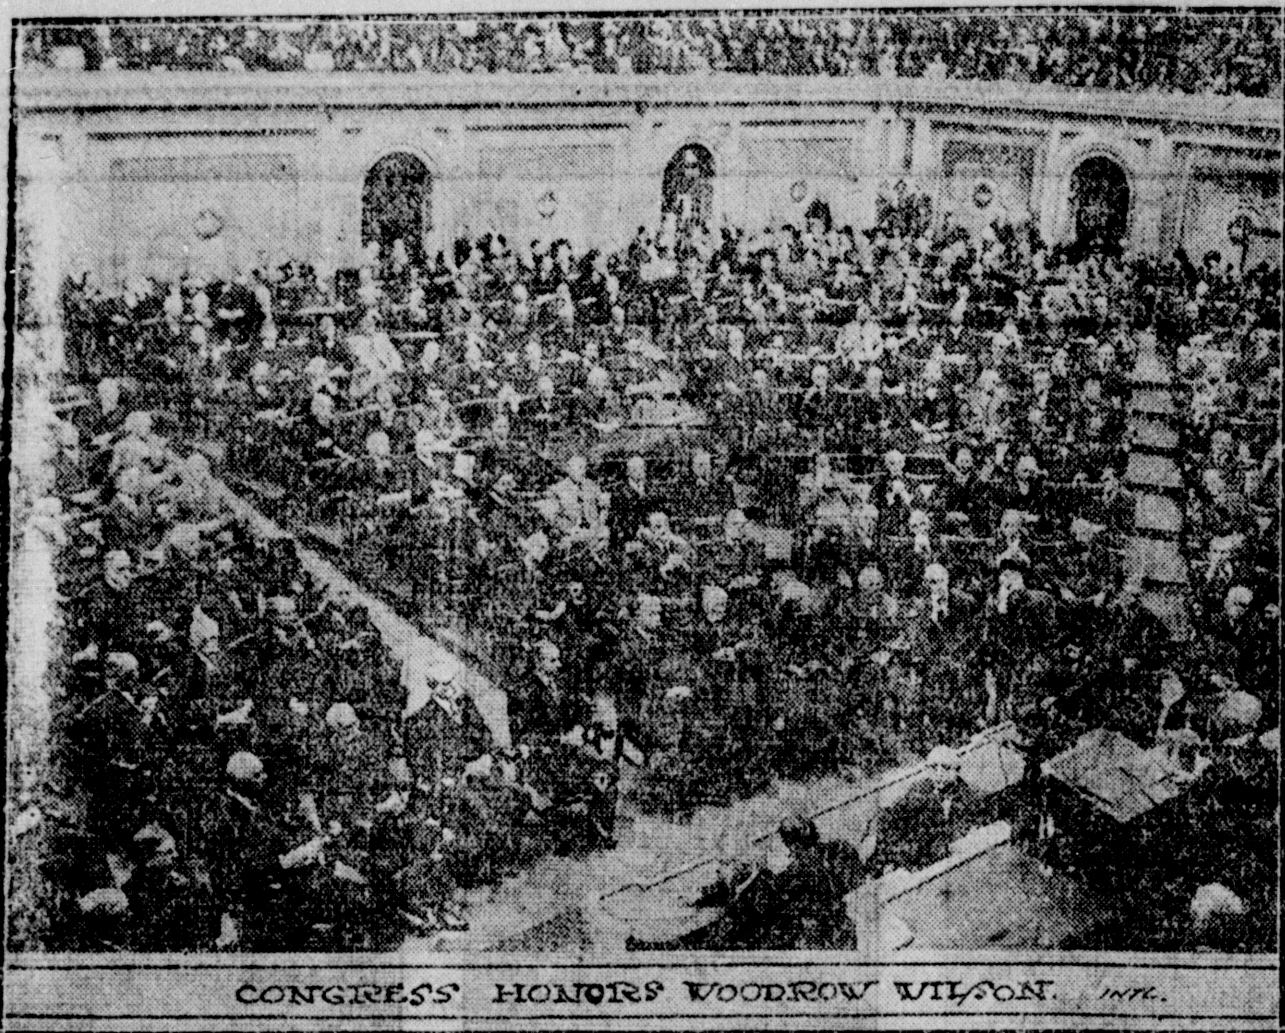

Says It Exposes Knowledge of Subject Rather Than Mere Ability to State Things.

Berkeley, Cal.—A new system of examinations has been adopted by Professor Warner Brown of the psychology department of the University of California. This department had used the essay form, requiring the students to write at length on several questions. Dr. Brown did not deem this a fair test, and so he formed a combination of tests.

One of the new methods requires the pupil to supply one word to make a sentence complete. In another he must choose among several alternatives. A third consists in giving him a number of statements, and asking him to tell of each whether it is true or false.

According to Dr. Brown, this type of test gives the student more choice of questions, because more ground is covered in less time. He says it exposes knowledge of a subject, rather than the mere ability to state things.

NEW OXFORD

New Oxford.—The New Oxford fire company met Wednesday evening. Bills to the amount of $16 were paid. Seven new members were voted into membership. Three applications were received. It was decided to hold a fair for three nights, January 15-16-17, in school hall for funds for an auto truck. The New Hale Auto Truck Company, from which a truck was bought some time ago, sent word same will be delivered here on January 16. The committee on funds for fire truck reported still out on pledge cards $435 and asked all persons who have not paid their amounts pledged to do before January 16, as cash will be paid for the truck when it arrives. The membership of the company is 75. The officers elected for the year are as follows: President, H. J. Plymire; vice president, William Gilbert; recording secretary, T. E. Sellers; financial secretary, A. P. Wagner; treasurer, H. E. Lough; fire chief, Joseph Felty; first assistant chief, George Felty; second assistant chief, Joseph Carbaugh. The board then made the following appointments: Chief engine driver, Guy Staub; assistant, Joseph Smith; chief pipeman, William Gilbert; first assistant pipeman, Nathaniel Miller; second assistant pipeman, Elmer Dillman; third assistant pipeman, Edwin Lough; fourth assistant pipeman, Philip Kohler; chief hose director, James Small; first assistant director, G. Sadler; second assistant director, Guy Klingler; fire police, H. E. Lough, F. B. Sellers, Edward L. Auken, H. S. Sheetz and Harry Stock.

Mrs. Joseph Miller, Lincoln Way, West, entertained the Ladies' Social club, Thursday evening, at her home.

Knights of St. George, No. 191, have rented a room from J. E. C. Miller above his hardware store on the square, for a club room, for members. The room is now open at all times.

Channel Sheely, local garageman, suffered severe burns to his face Wednesday afternoon when a quantity of waste which he threw into the furnace fire caused the flames suddenly to burst forth from the furnace. A local doctor dressed the injuries.

Emory Melhorn, Hanover street, is now night watchman in the New Oxford Shoe Manufacturing company.

Dickawarus Haymakers had a special meeting Thursday evening and a supper at their meeting.

All New Oxford baseball fans are urged to attend a reorganization meeting of New Oxford ball club Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock, at Straley's restaurant. There is over $300 in the local treasurer and everything bids well for a successful season.

A surprise party was tendered Mrs. Edith Myers, Lincoln Way West, Tuesday evening, by 20 women.

Miss Florence Myers, Camden, New Jersey, recently spent several days here at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Myers, Hanover street.

Mrs. George Seaks and Mrs. John Foose spent Thursday in Hanover. The Camp Fire girls will meet Friday evening at the home of W. D. Himes, Lincoln Way West.

ASK ENGLAND TO JOIN IN TRIBUTE

Would Celebrate Sesquicentennial of Surrender of Yorktown by British.

Newport News, Va.—Interest extending overseas is claimed for the proposed sesquicentennial celebration of the British surrender at Yorktown, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, of Newport News, for October 19, 1931.

International participation will be sought in the pageant to be presented showing the actual surrender of Cornwallis to Washington, after scenes of the early colonial period shall have led up to the climax.

Invited to take part are all the states; the army and navy as well as other agencies of the United States government, the French and British navies and many historical societies.

Sponsors of the celebration report cordial cooperation assured from many organizations and societies in the United States and abroad.

Congress will be asked to appropriate at least $50,000 to cover the expense of the national government's participation. The states will also be urged to provide funds. It is proposed to have a special postage stamp issued to aid in advertising the celebration.

SWIMMING POOL TO BE 1,000 FEET LONG

San Francisco.—The new Fleishacker swimming pool, 1,000 feet long, said to be the largest in the world, will be dedicated when the National Amateur Athletic Union swimming championships are held here April 23, 24 and 25.

The tank is under construction. It is situated near the ocean beach at Ingleside, the southwestern end of the city. It will have a maximum depth of 12 feet. It is an outdoor pool, but the temperature of the water will be regulated. The property involved is owned by the city, and the pool will be open to the public.

Another dedication, that of the new municipal stadium in Golden Gate park, will mark the track and field events of the National A. A. U. to be held July 3, 4 and 5. The stadium, being built this winter, will seat 22,000. Careful attention is being given the running track, so that it may be one of the fastest.

A rash man provokes trouble, but when the trouble comes, is no match for it.

SPEEDY DRIVERS GAIN LITTLE TIME

Tests in Los Angeles Show Saving of Five Miles Per Hour Is Gained.

Los Angeles.—A series of tests made here by the Automobile Club of southern California has demonstrated that the two old proverbs, "More haste, less speed," and "Haste makes waste," might well be given serious consideration by the modern motorist.

In making the tests scouting cars were operated on three different routes in the city of Los Angeles. Each route was first traversed at the highest speed possible and yet escaped arrest, and advantage was taken of every opportunity to make time. The same driver went over the same route a second time, observing all traffic laws and conforming to the rules of safe driving.

More Haste, Less Speed
A summary of these trips shows that the driver who hurried saved only a total of ten minutes out of two hours driving, or five minutes to the hour. The total distance of the three routes across the city was 31.5 miles, or an average of 10.5 miles to the trip. One trip showed a saving of five minutes, another three minutes and the other two minutes.

Club officials point out that in driving to save a possible five minutes over a ten mile trip, the small amount of time saved will not compensate the average driver for the extra gasoline used, the increased wear on brake linings, the risk of arrest with fine or jail sentence and the increased liability of collision.

ARCTIC REINDEER DIE IN MICHIGAN

Lansing.—Experiments conducted by the state department of conservation apparently have demonstrated that reindeer will not thrive in the northern peninsula of Michigan.

About two years ago 60 reindeer were imported and placed on a game farm. It was the hope of sportsmen that they would find the cold stretches of the Lake Superior region to their liking and that the northern woods soon would be thickly populated with the Arctic animals. Federal and state agencies had announced that a mossy growth prevalent in the upper peninsula was ideal food for reindeer. The herd at first increased to more than seventy. Then they started to die off and now only seven are left.

MISSION FROM RUIN

Oakland, Cal.—Mission San Jose, a picturesque California landmark, 30 miles south of here, is to undergo its first renovation since it was erected by the Spanish padres in 1791. The mission contains historic records and an ancient graveyard with monuments bearing the names of some of the men who opened the gates to western civilization.

After the complete restoration of Carmel Mission, in Monterey county, in which the famous padre, Junipero Serra, is buried, San Juan Bautista Mission, in San Benito county, was rehabilitated. The San Jose Mission is next on the program.

There are 21 old Spanish missions in California, separated from one another by about 35 miles, a day's journey in the old times. The preservation committee is headed by Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover and Joseph R. Knowland, Oakland publisher.

Trouble Caused by Getting Up Too Soon. Relieved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Taleville, New York.—"I thought it would interest you to know what benefited me after the birth of my child."

Then just before my fifth child was born I had inflammation of the bladder and displacement. Seeing your advertisement in a Liverpool (England) paper I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and that was the best confinement I had. Whenever I feel run-down I always take the Vegetable Compound as a tonic. We have just removed from Brockville (Canada) so I was pleased when the store ordered the medicine for me and I got it today. I would not be without it for any price and I recommend it to ladies around here because I feel so sure it will benefit any woman who takes it."—Mrs. AGNES WIGNALL, Taleville, New York.

value—new quality—a new line of Chevrolet models even better than ever before. Chevrolet has become the world's largest producer of automobiles with modern, 3-speed transmission by making quality cars to sell at low cost. Now this Chevrolet quality has been greatly increased.

chassis—with larger, stronger frame; new semi-elliptic, chrome vanadium steel springs; stronger axles, rear axle of the finest construction—banjo type housing with greatly strengthened gears; improved, fully enclosed dry-plate disc clutch requiring no lubrication; extra heavy brake bands; and many improvements on the powerful Chevrolet motor.

bodies—of even greater beauty and comfort. All models have new radiator of more beautiful design, made of non-rusting airplane metal. All closed models have new and exceptionally beautiful Fisher bodies with the new VV closed-body one-piece windshield and automatic windshield wiper. Balloon tires on all closed models and disc wheels on the Sedan and Coupe.

finish—all models are now finished in Duco—the new finish that retains its color and lustre almost indefinitely and withstands the severest usage. These are but a few of the quality features of the new Chevrolet—quality features that you would expect to find only on cars of much higher price.

RESTOCKING OF FORESTS SOUGHT

Sportsmen's Clubs Will Discuss Restocking of Forests Through Northeastern Pennsylvania.

Game restocking of the forests through northeastern Pennsylvania will receive the attention of various sportsmen's clubs during the winter. The scarcity of pheasants has caused much concern. Despite the importation of birds the past two years they were scarce during the 1924 hunting season according to reports of state game wardens. A special effort will be made to get more pheasants in the spring, as a number has been stocked within the past several weeks. They were put into the woods near farm houses in isolated sections where they can be fed when the weather prevents foraging in their natural haunts.

More rabbits are to be secured from Kansas and other western states. They appear to thrive well but thousands of them were killed last fall and restocking is declared necessary if hunting is to be good again in 1925. The Kansas rabbits apparently acclimate themselves easily in this part of the state and it is expected most of the ships will come from the west. Deer were plentiful with expectations of even greater numbers next autumn. Only about a dozen does were killed this year, most of them in mistake for bucks. Farmers declare deer again are making their appearance with cattle, apparently realizing they are safe from pursuit, after the invasion of the Poconos by thousands of gunners the first two weeks of December.
